LYNN MAN CONFESSES SLAYING OF SALEM GIRL

V-2 Faster Than Sound

V-2 Huge July 4th Sizzler

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The V-2 rocket used against widely scattered parts of England thus far is slender and about 50 feet long and it trails flame. Because it travels faster than sound, it strikes silently.

Censorship until today had bottled up all mention of V-2. Even now it may not be told where the rockets have landed or just what damage has been caused. V-2 is the popular version for German "Vergeltungswaffen," No. 2.

Stockholm correspondents in Berlin have reported the Nazis admitting disappointment in the rocket because of its inaccuracy, the difficulty in controlling the weapon and the danger to launching crews. Originally, the rocket was to have carried 10 tons of explosives, but the high mortality rate at launching sites caused the Nazis to cut the warhead to a ton, about the same as in V-1.

The London Daily Mail correspondent in Stockholm said all rockets fired to date at England were from special sites along the Dutch coast north of Rotterdam. He reported the Germans were striving to perfect V-3, an atom bomb and were experimenting with a smaller type of V-2 which the Germans asserted could be fired as far as the United States.

Rockets are oversized versions of July Fourth sizzlers. They are believed to span the North Sea in the stratosphere, where there are no troublesome cross winds.

Field dispatches have reported the use of V-2 rockets in the battle zone, but correspondents indicate they were too inaccurate to have military value.

Rockets fired at troops were reported to be slightly smaller than those used against England. One did weigh 13 tons and had 1600 pounds of explosives in its snout when it was found behind U. S. lines in France.

--- Churchill New Nazi Terror Weapon Revealed to Commons

By DWIGHT L. PITKIN

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Germans for weeks have been plunging V-2 rockets into England at a speed faster than sound and from arcs 70 miles high but thus far have caused little damage, Prime Minister Churchill announced today in Commons.

The Germans said V-2 and the earlier V-1 flying robot bomb were being used against both Paris and Antwerp as well as England and boasted that the vengeance weapons would make the hard-won Belgian port "unsuitable for unloading troops and material on a major scale." The intact docks of Antwerp are depended upon by Gen. Eisenhower to supply his offensive into Germany.

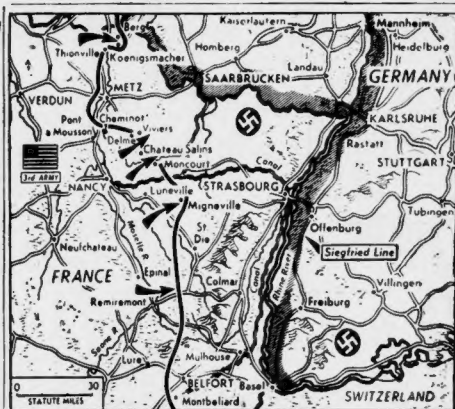

"The scale of the attacks has not hitherto been significant," Churchill said, but admitted the attacks were hurled at widely scattered places in England.

Casualties have been light, largely because the warhead of approximately a ton—about that of the V-1 or robot bomb—buries itself so deeply into the earth when it lands at speeds exceeding 700 miles per hour.

Where the rockets were coming from was not clear. The Germans said the Allies never would find the camouflaged sites; Churchill said some were found on the captured Dutch island of Walcheren.

German propagandists pulled out all stops; they insisted that Churchill "had to admit" the existence of V-2; that it was not the last secret weapon; they hinted direly that the United States

Japs Rallying on Leyte; Claim 2 China Bases Taken

By MURLIN SPENCER

MACARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 10 (AP)—Running a gamut of harassing American planes and PT-boats, 35,000 veteran Jap troops have joined the bloody battle for Leyte, Gen. MacArthur disclosed today in an announcement which indicates the battle for the Philippines may be long and hard.

The disclosure that, despite all American efforts, the Japs had succeeded in replacing heavy losses in 22 days of fighting is having a sobering effect on the optimism which followed the comparatively easy initial landing.

Gen. MacArthur made it clear the advantage gained by our surprise landings on Leyte's east coast had about run its course.

The Japs have been able to recover from the initial shock, but only their west coast stronghold at Ormoc still remains. But they recovered in time to make a determined stand for the remainder of Leyte.

Gen. MacArthur disclosed American troops have broken a four-day stalemate in the battle for Ormoc "with substantial gains on a wide front." Ormoc is in flames and its usefulness to the enemy as a supply base has been greatly reduced.

American planes are in the air again after being grounded by a typhoon.

The Japs' first opportunity to land reinforcements came Oct. 25 when every American naval and air unit available was engaging the Jap fleet.

They added to their reinforcements Nov. 1 by taking advantage of the fact our airfields on Leyte had not been developed sufficiently to base medium and heavy bombers.

A few days later they took quick advantage of a threatening tropical hurricane and pushed in still more fresh troops and equipment.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Japanese broadcasts claimed the capture today of Kweilin and Liuchow in China. The official Jap news agency Domei said the Chinese 31st Army had "completely surrendered" at noon today in Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi Province and defense pivot for southeastern China.

The dispatch, in Romanized Japanese to enemy-occupied Asia

CHINA—Japanese forces today are reported to have captured the key cities of Liuchow and Kweilin and recorded by U. S. government monitors, said news of the capture was carried in a dispatch from the Kwangsi front. The Chinese have said Kweilin would be "China's Stalingrad."

The Chinese high command in Chungking said claws of a Jap pincer moving on Liuchow from the north and the southwest were 50 miles apart. It was evident once the gap was closed the Japs would have a line stretching from the South China sea to the great wall, cutting China in two.

A total advance of 10 miles was made at places in the three-day drive along a 55-mile arc around Metz.

Artillery pounded on both sides of the Maas in Holland as the enemy displayed nervousness at the possibility of a new offensive into northern Holland.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' First Army prodded the Germans with local attacks in the Hurtgen and Schmidt areas southeast of Aachen.

Patton's attack, swinging like a barn door from a hinge at a point nine miles south of Metz, moved across sudden forests, hills and valleys in a northeasterly direction toward Germany's industrial Saar border 25 miles away and threatened to cut across the rear communications of Metz.

North of Metz an enveloping movement was in progress at points 18 and 22 miles north of the city where bridgeheads across the Moselle were deepened by three miles. There the Germans put in their first sizeable counter-attack against Patton's drive.

But the enemy infantry and two tanks which tried to halt the 90th American Infantry Division were rocked back on their heels.

An onslaught yesterday by 1300 U. S. heavy bombers and hundreds of divebombers which smashed at German front line gun positions and strong points, as well as rail and road bottlenecks immediately to the rear, apparently had largely succeeded in sealing off the battle zone.

Thunderbolt pilots knocked out 15 German tanks among a concentration 25 miles northeast of Nancy in this assault.

Heavy rains of the first two days of the drive eased off overnight, giving promise of a repetition of the aerial onslaught.

The American Fourth Armored Division, veterans of the St. Lo battle, advanced three more miles beyond Delme for a gain of 10 miles, and crossed heavily-garrisoned Delme ridge northwest of Chateau-Salins.

While the 319th Regiment of the 80th Infantry Division captured Delme Ridge, the Fourth Division ranged on to the vicinity of Hancourt and Fontenay, three miles beyond, and the 35th Infantry Division slugged into the forest of Chateau-Salins and captured Chateau-Salins itself.

NEW JAP LANDINGS—Yanks continue pressure on Ormoc area as Japs land estimated 35,000 reinforcements in showdown fight for Leyte Island. Heavy artillery is shelling the town as Americans converge from north and south, making large gains after being stalemated by a typhoon, which held up operations for several days.

AIDS POLICE—Jack Vetro (above), Salem bus driver, told police Marie Rose LaCombe and a youth "about 16, tall and good looking," boarded his bus at the terminal in Washington st., Salem, at 8:30 Sunday night and left the vehicle at Highland ave. and Jackson st. about five minutes later.

F.D. for Another 'Big 3' Meeting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today, he, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin want to hold another meeting whenever they can arrange it.

He said, however, no details have been worked out and there is nothing definite on the time or place of such a meeting.

The President told the reporters at his first news conference since his election to a fourth term that he wouldn't tell when the time and place are arranged anyway.

Such meetings always have been secret until the government heads arrive at the scene of the conference.

Ex-Lynn Man Confesses Killing Salem School Girl

A sharp-featured, sunken-eyed circus roustabout of 26, formerly a Lynn dishwasher, has confessed to Putnam, Ct., police it was he who ravished 14-year-old Marie Rose Lacombe of Salem, Sunday night, then clubbed her with his fists until she was dead. It was a story of bestial ferocity and sexual frenzy, related in strange monotone by Frank Szymanowicz of Lynn PUTNAM, Ct., Nov. 10—I talked with Frank Szymanowicz in his cell at the Putnam police station this morning. A tall, thin man of 26, he was highly nervous and kept rubbing his forehead as if to clear his mind.

His hair was awry and his eyes bleary from lack of sleep. Here is his own story about his meeting with Marie LaCombe, who was ravished and slain in Salem Sunday night.

"Did you kill Marie?" I asked him.

"I gave her a beating," he replied.

"What did you hit her with?" "I hit her with my fist, but I don't remember how I hit her."

"Did you use a rock or stick or any instrument?"

"No, I did not use anything but my fist, but I don't know how I hit her."

"Where did you meet her?" "I met her at the show."

"What was the picture?" "I don't remember."

"Did you make a date with her after the show?"

"Yes, I did."

"Where did you meet her after the show?"

"This side of Boston."

"No, I do not mean that. I mean, where in Salem did you meet her?"

"Two blocks from the bus terminal."

"What did you do then?"

"We went walking."

"How did you get to the place where you hit her?"

"We just kept walking along."

"When you got there, what did you do?"

"We stayed there and then I told her what I wanted."

"Were you standing or sitting?"

"We were sitting in seats at that time, but then in a little while I took her around back."

"Then I made advances on her. She resisted."

"Then what did you do?"

"I hit her."

"She hollered loud, but I stopped her. I hit her again."

"Is that what made her shut up—your hitting her?"

"Yes, that's what did it."

Tragic Drama At Girl's Funeral

Weeping unrestrainedly, Mrs. Rose LaCombe broke from her husband's grasp today and tried to fling herself on the casket of her slain daughter, Marie, as the body was borne into St. Joseph's Church, Salem, for a solemn high mass of requiem.

Funeral attendants reached the tottering woman and held her back gently, consoling her and quieting her finally before she entered the church.

In the poignant moment, the iron composure of her husband, Joseph LaCombe, wavered, but then he clenched his big fists and his face tightened again into the grim, stony mask with which he has covered his almost unbearable grief since his daughter's body was found.

Equally brave were their two sons, Louie, 15, and Paul, 12, whose red-rimmed eyes were dry and their faces set as they walked into the church in the funeral procession.

Bearers were eight Salem high school seniors, three of them stars on the school football team.

They were Armand Longval, Donald Goolsby, Donald Poltras, William Dash, Francis Wrigley, Henry Upton, Ralph Gray, Jr., and Richard Douglas.

Among those attending the services were some 30 high school sophomores, students in the dead girl's home classroom at the school.

They were accompanied by Principal Chester A. Arnold and Vice-Principal P. T. Kenneally.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Paul S. Martin.

At the request of Fr. Martin, only members of the family, relatives and friends were present at the last sad rites in rain-swept St. Mary's Cemetery.

It was related from a seat on a cot in a cell—which he had sought out himself. He had stumbled wearily into the station last night to beg refuge from the dark, explaining he was "afraid of the night."

Weird though the circumstance was, Salem police sent Lt. John E. Brennan and Sgt. Thomas J. Hyde to question the man at Putnam.

Salem police disclosed they had questioned and released two youths who had admitted being with the Lacombe girl a few hours before her death.

Police now seek a third youth. He was regarded as of utmost importance to the murder investigation.

Szymanowicz confessed to being the murderer a short while after he had entered the Putnam police station. At first the officers regarded him for what he declared himself to be, an itinerant worker, a wartime hobo, on his way to Boston to join the merchant marine.

But even while a place to sleep was being prepared for him, a casual conversation between the visitor and police indicated he had been in Salem Sunday night.

POLICE DOUBTFUL

The police now are suspicious. They began to ask him more about his wanderings in Massachusetts. Suddenly they confronted him with a newspaper picture of the little victim. He stared at it.

"Yes," he gasped. "That's the picture. I know that girl. I had a date with her. I killed her! Now let me go to bed. I'm awfully sleepy."

He was given no sleep. He was questioned searchingly. The confession followed.

Szymanowicz was questioned at length later by a Boston Evening American correspondent and enlarged on his original statement to police, as well as tracing in detail much of his wandering life.

"I met that girl Marie Sunday afternoon at the movies and I asked her for a date for that night."

"She met me and we took a walk. I don't remember just where we went but I know it was a little outside the city."

"I tried to kiss her and we got in an argument. Then I punched her with my fist and afterwards picked up something and belted her with it. I don't know whether it was a club or a rock."

"But I got what I wanted. Afterwards, I got scared and beat it for Utica to see my folks. That's all I can tell you until I get some sleep."

GOOD BOY, MOTHER SAYS

Szymanowicz left his home in Nichols st., Utica, last July, his mother told the American. At that time he said he was going to Lynn.

His mother said he had never been in trouble and was a good boy, although quite a wanderer. He is not married and did not go

Raccoon Caught In Malden Plant

On the graveyard shift, anything's liable to happen.

Night workers at the Converse Rubber Co. plant in Pearl st., Malden, caught a wild raccoon in the building early today.

Officials said the coon got into the plant in some unexplained manner about two weeks ago and had been hiding there since. He was finally cornered and made to run into a box.

Workers said they probably would turn him over to a zoo.

Detroit OPA Orders Cigarette Cleanup

DETROIT, Nov. 10 (AP)—An ultimatum to cigarette wholesalers and jobbers to "clean up the cigarette situation" or face a thorough investigation of what is happening to the city's supply was issued today by the district office of Price Administration.

Commenting that Detroit's cigarette situation "is in bad odor," W. E. Fitzgerald, district OPA director, ordered dealers to deliver 60 per cent of each retailer's June 1943 purchases on "the OPA will move right into your offices and examine your books."

Poll Directors Would Favor Probe, Says Research Head

DENVER, Nov. 10 (INS)—Belief that Dr. George Gallup, Elmo Roper and others who conducted pre-election polls on the 1944 presidential race would welcome a Congressional investigation was expressed today by H. H. Field, director of the National Opinion Research Center at Denver University.

Field's statement came after Cong. Clinton T. Anderson (D., N. Mex.), declared at Albuquerque that "public opinion polls should be investigated as a result of their difference with the actual election returns."

Anderson said his House campaign expenditure investigation committee was "liable to" make such an investigation.

Anderson claimed the opinion

"It is as improper to use public opinion polls in an attempt to influence elections as it is to use money."

Four of the five nationwide polls on election eve showed President Roosevelt slightly ahead of Dewey in an expected close race. The lone poll that indicated Dewey's election assumed the GOP candidate would win by a 364 to 167 electoral vote.

Field said: "I know our center would welcome such a congressional investigation, as threatened by Rep. Anderson. We are not afraid and the other poll takers also have good cases."

bus statue adjacent to the Union station at 9:04 a. m. to wave to the crowd and speak briefly into radio microphones at the statue.

Thanking Washington for braving bad weather to welcome him, Mr. Roosevelt said he could hardly tell how happy he was to return and gave his special thanks to government workers "who are helping win this war."

Saying "this is a very wonderful welcome home you have given me," the Chief Executive quickly added with a chuckle that he hoped it would not be inferred he hoped to "make Washington my permanent home for the rest of my life."

The night-long rain had almost ceased by the time the motorcade got under way.

Little Johnny Boettger, the President's grandson, sat proudly in the front seat of the presidential car beside the driver. The parade, headed by 50 motorcycle police, swung south toward the capitol and headed down Constitution and Pennsylvania aves. to the White House. Thousands were packed tightly beside the curb along the parade route.

Well-wishers held up banners carrying such messages as "In '44 We Need You More," "You Won Here. Let's Win Over There," "You're Back and We're Back of You," and "U. S. A. F. D. R."

The trip from the station to the White House took 20 minutes. Eight military bands spotted along the parade route played "Hail to the Chief," as the presidential party drove by.

Several thousand government workers stood in the rain in back of the Treasury and greeted the President with cheers and hand-clapping as his car entered the southeast gate of the executive mansion grounds.

The motorcade proceeded through a line of policemen standing at attention in the south grounds and came to a stop before several hundred applauding White House employees and a group of girl clerks from the Office of War Information.

Mr. Roosevelt did not tarry, going immediately into the White House to start another routine day.

Mrs. Roosevelt's place in the parade was a short distance behind the President and her car was followed by those of cabinet officials including Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. Hundreds of special police, augmenting the regular secret service details, patrolled the route.

The President faces the impending conference with Churchill and Stalin; the Chinese problem enhanced by removal of Gen. Stilwell at Chiang-Kai-shek's personal request; decisions on the makeup of the new Cabinet, provided any changes would be contemplated; a number of major appointments now likely to be made momentarily.

The retiring Congress meeting next week has some work to do, but the spotlight hereafter is on the new one that convenes in January.

This 79th Congress must appropriate the final punch funds of war, may have to equip the President with special wartime powers that are due soon to expire, must renew anti-inflation and other economic controls, act on taxes and other domestic matters.

Associated Press returns from 122,229 of the country's 130,789 voting units showed the major party popular vote:

Roosevelt 24,221,696; Dewey, 21,155,667; total, 45,377,363. The electoral vote remains 432 to 99.

House: 242 Democrats. 187 Republicans, two minor parties, four undecided (all in Missouri).

Senate: 56 Democrats, 37 Republicans, one Progressive, two unsettled (Pennsylvania, Missouri).

Cahill May Yet Be Governor

Lt. Gov. Cahill, defeated for the governorship by Mayor Tobin, may round out a long period of public service by one month in the governor's chair.

This fulfillment of his ambition, according to friends of Gov. Saltonstall, probably will occur Dec. 1 when the latter is expected to take up his duties as U. S. Senator.

Gov. Saltonstall is eligible to take over the post now at any time since Sen. Sinclair Weeks, the governor's appointee, was given the post only until a successor could be elected to fill out the unexpired term of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., now serving overseas in the Army.

F.D. Guess Gave Dewey 196 Votes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt's advance guess on his fourth-term election: 335 electoral votes for himself, 196 for his opponent.

He gave these figures to his news conference today when reporters asked how his usual forecast had turned out. The actual count stands at 432 to 99.

Mr. Roosevelt observed smilingly that he wasn't very accurate.

He told the newsmen he called off the 25-cent bet he made on election because he got scared. Under the New York law a voter loses his ballot if he participates in a wager.

Kelly Takes First Steps Toward Statewide Recount

Former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly took initial steps for recount of the entire state vote in his attorney generalship.

Beaten by 9803 votes, Kelly announced he would seek retribution "in fairness to my loyal supporters and the hundreds of thousands who voted for me."

Unofficial tabulation of 1852 precincts throughout the state was given as follows: Clarence A. Barnes, 524,390; Kelly, 514,587. In criticizing the lack of a speedy count, the former lieutenant

WATCHING GI'S HOMECOMING THRILLS BING

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10 (AP)—Hollywood's wandering minstrel, Bing Crosby, was home today after a four-months' tour of England and the battlefronts of France.

Nothing El Bingo saw abroad touched him so deeply, he said, as the spectacle he witnessed as his troupe, the former Queen Mary brought war-weary, wounded and spent young American soldiers to their native soil for the first time in three years.

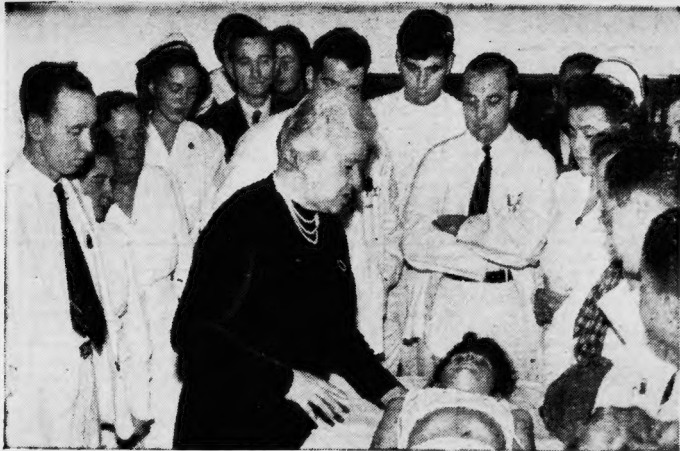

"As we streamed into the upper bay of New York," said Bing, "1000 American soldiers, all of them casualties and many without hands, arms or legs, begged to be brought topside to the forward decks. These boys hungered for a sight of their homeland and the Statue of Liberty, the epitome of all they had been fighting for, all they had sacrificed."

"I cried unashamedly along with them as the Manhattan skyline came into view and we passed the Statue of Liberty."

Whiskey Making O.K. in January

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—WPB Chairman J. A. Krug announced today there will be another liquor-making "holiday" in January and the beverage alcohol industry probably will be released for the manufacture of whiskey and other spirits from time to time during 1945.

Krug said the war program will not need the beverage plants in January for making industrial alcohol but the distillers will return to industrial alcohol production in February.

The January release, Krug said, has been made possible through a reduction in requirements of alcohol for synthetic rubber.

There was no indication in the WPB announcement whether Bourbon whiskey would be made in January.

Bigger Fuel Oil Rations Likely

Increased fuel oil rations in the East and Middle West by early 1945 were forecast today by New York industry leaders, but OPA officials in Boston denied any knowledge of such a plan.

Storage tanks filled to capacity and increased fuel oil production were given as the basis of the optimistic predictions. The oil business leaders foresaw a possibility that the OPA would increase household rations from the present 10 gallons or 11 or 12 gallons per coupon.

The upping of household rations was indicated for next month or the first quarter of 1945, the industry spokesmen said.

Their predictions were based on a survey of supply and distribution conditions in the petroleum industry, they said.

The leaders warned households against increasing fuel oil consumption until the change actually was put into effect.

Chicago Women Smoking Pipes

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—The cigarette shortage has caused hundreds of Chicago women smokers to switch (presumably in private so far) to pipes.

This was disclosed today in a survey of loop cigar stores which showed that small pipes, weighing about a half-ounce, have been selling like hot cakes since the shortage became acute two weeks ago.

Several women, one manager said, have suggested pipes be turned out in assorted colors for women.

France Rededicates Armistice Scene

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—A torch lighted from the eternal flame at the Arc de Triomphe was being borne by relays of runners today to the little village of Rethondes, 40 miles away, to rededicate the glade where Marshal Foch received the German armistice delegates Nov. 8, 1918.

Parade to Top Armistice Day

Highlighting Boston's observance of Armistice Day, 25,000 marchers, including veterans of both World Wars, will take part in a parade tomorrow afternoon.

Recently returned heroes of the st. where it will disband.

In the line of march will be units from the Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps, and auxiliaries; Legionnaires and VFW members from all sections of Greater Boston; the 26th Infantry of the Massachusetts State Guard; the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps; scores of present conflict in Europe and in the Pacific will head the procession, scheduled to start from Hereford st. and Commonwealth ave. at 2 p. m.

The parade route is Commonwealth ave. to Arlington st. to Boylston st. to Tremont st. through Temple pl. to Washington st. to Beacon to Arlington school bands, Boy Scouts and representatives of various civic and fraternal organizations.

The parade also will feature a display of the high mechanized equipment of World War II.

City officials will review the parade at City Hall, and Gov. Saltonstall and his staff will review it at the State House.

First big event on the holiday calendar is the annual Armistice Day communion mass of the Knights of Columbus at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross at 9 a. m., at which Archbishop Cushing will pontificate.

Charlestown celebrates Armistice Day tomorrow with a memorial mass for casualties in this war at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Church, Warren st., with Rev. Frederick J. Allechin, pastor of St. Mary's and chaplain of Bunker Hill Post 26, A. L., officiating.

Among invited guests will be veterans of the post, members of the auxiliary and Gold Star mothers of Charlestown.

Guest speaker at a luncheon that is to follow at the post's clubhouse on Chestnut st. will be Rev. Daniel J. Lynch, S. J., of Boston College, former divisional chaplain of the 26th Division.

Later the post members will take part in a parade, accompanied by St. Ann's Band. Marching with the vets will be Rev. Lawrence Brock, S. J.

Police today launched a widespread hunt for an armed burglar, clad in a soldier's uniform, who fled a Peterboro st., Back Bay, building where the superintendent caught him rifling a fourth floor apartment.

The thief was surprised by James McHenry, building superintendent, who had gone up the fire escape to admit a tenant who found her key would not work.

Pointing a gun at McHenry, the uniformed intruder warned him not to come in or he'd shoot. McHenry hastened down the fire escape and telephoned police. Meanwhile, gathering his loot, the burglar fled through a rear exit.

MICKY'S BRIDE MEETS THE GANG—Mrs. Mickey Rooney, the former Betty Jane Rose of Birmingham, Ala., who was married to the young movie actor after a week's courtship, gets acquainted with Mickey's gang on her arrival in Hollywood. They include Beanie, a dachshund, Duchess and Orson, springer spaniels and Von a boxer.

HOME FROM THE WARS—PFC John Porcello, of Marion st., East Boston, renews his family association with sisters whom he has not seen for more than five years, when he arrived home from the Aleutians in his first furlough home since he joined the Army in 1939. His sisters (l. to r.) Joan, 10; Lorraine, 9, and Gloria, 12, listen while he reads accounts from his diary.

Fox in Bronx

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—Apartment dwellers in Bronx were trying on scarlet jackets and reading up on the vernacular of the hunt today.

Right in the concrete canyons of the city, a policeman spotted a silver fox and failed to overpower it with his club. His "illyho" brought three patrol cars, an emergency squad and agents of the ASPCA.

After a two-hour chase, the fox was captured in a coal pile in an apartment house basement and turned over to the Bronx Park Zoo.

N. Y. Boy, 8, Found Innocent In Killing of Little Brother

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—There was mixed grief and joy in the Drach household today.

A 16-year-old Bronx schoolboy was held as the confessed thrill-slayer of four-year-old Willie Drach and the suspicion that the child had died at the hands of his eight-year-old brother, Bobby, proved unfounded.

While being questioned, Bobby told how he had been playing Commandos with his younger brother and police believed Willie had met death during the game. Willie's body was found with a rope tied around the neck in the basement of the apartment building where his father works as superintendent.

Later, Bobby told his father he hadn't been playing with the youngster on the day in question.

That was enough for his father and mother. Both insisted Bobby was innocent and prevailed upon police to continue their investigation.

With aid of clues provided by Drach, the police followed a trail leading to Frank Pape who confessed after his arrest.

Today, hanging in the vestibule of the Drach home, was a crudely printed sign which testified to the grieving parents' faith in the word of their first son and their joy that they had been spared a double tragedy.

Also expressing gratitude to the two detectives who helped solve the case, the sign said:

"The boy that killed my child has been found by two great men—it was not my son."

Mother Gas Suicide, 2 Children Revived

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—Gas streaming from a kitchen range snuffed out the life of a young mother today and caused her two small children to be overcome. The woman was Mrs. Ruth Ooka, 37, who, police said, was found by her husband, William, with her head on the stove and two gas jets open.

The children, Susan, 4, and William Robert, 3, were in bed, both suffering from gas poisoning. Police listed the case a suicide.

KALEIDOSCOPIC BARGAIN PANORAMA

—It probably sounds like a slice of make believe what the Captain Kidd's of the Bargain World are constantly digging up in famous bargain marts everywhere. For instance, the time our Mr. Quinn bought a Florida steed by the light of the silvery moon (it was blackout) in Florida in May, 1942—the time our Mr. Hennessy scooped up a store stock off the good ship S. S. QUEEN MARY—Mrs. Geary made bargain history, buying more than 400 baby carriages—cause a factory had a fire—and there was the stock of pocketbooks from the French Pavilion at the New York World's Fair that our Mr. Burke pounced upon and the imported objets d'art that Mr. Brubaker scooped up from a Syrian importer—the Paris gowns that represented Mr. Leon's last purchase when he fled from Europe—these and the stocks of 37 retail shops purchased and offered all at one time—and more recently the $272,000 fire stock from Memphis, Tennessee—the Jim Dale men's roadside shops out for the duration—the Leonard Simmons showpieces sample fur creations—the imported $44.90 alligator handbags—the California designer who sells his entire season's collection of seconds to our house buyer—the ultra fashionable derby pelisses—the $74.90 Crombie overcoats—the famous John Kane, Delaware Boys' Store stock—yes, myriads of bargains all the time, so diverting in variety that folks in all straits of life make up our legions of followers.

Reds Cut Budapest Rail Line Northeast

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Nov. 10 (AP)—Russian troops under Marshal Malinovsky drove a wedge across the enemy's last direct railway communications between Budapest and northeastern Hungary today after shattering west bank defenses along the upper Tisza river.

A big infantry and armored salient extending westward beyond Mezőkeresztes, approximately 70 miles east-northeast of Budapest, curved dangerously toward the rear of German panzer forces counterattacking east and southeast of the Hungarian capital in an attempt to prevent it being outflanked.

A Moscow announcement said the main Budapest-Miskolc rail line had been severed. The Russian communique said the second Ukrainian army, advancing on a wide front across the middle Tisza, captured 50 towns and villages.

Hungarian Leader Begs Army to Quit

MOSCOW, Nov. 10 (AP)—Col. Gen. Janos Veres, chief of staff of the Hungarian army, who surrendered to the Russians several weeks ago, appealed to his forces today to desert the Germans and join the Red army in driving the Nazis from Hungary.

A proclamation signed by him and relayed by radio and leaflets to the Hungarian people called Ferenc Szalasi, puppet premier, a traitor and declared Adm. Nicholas Horthy still was the legal ruler. Horthy, long the regent of Hungary, attempted some time ago to make peace with the Allies.

Veres said Horthy had been arrested by the Gestapo.

Forli, Po Valley Center, Seized

ROME, Nov. 10 (AP)—British troops have captured Forli, Po valley communications center. Allied headquarters announced today.

Capture of the old fortress city was accomplished by a pincer movement. One force moved directly up the Rimini-Bologna highway while the second advanced up a road from the airfield to the southeast.

Other Eighth Army troops have loosened Nazi positions in the hills south and southwest of Forli. Approximately 250 prisoners were taken as the town fell.

Stalin May O.K. Parley

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Marshal Stalin is believed to have been invited to London for the Big Three talks expected before Christmas, but the best available information today was that he likely would agree to meet President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill somewhere in the Middle East.

There was speculation that Roosevelt might come first to London and accompany Churchill to Paris, and that they would go from there to the rendezvous with Stalin.

U. S. Liberators Again Bomb Hongkong

HONGKONG, Nov. 10 (AP)—Liberators of the U. S. 14th Air Force yesterday bombed the Kowloon docks for the second time this week. Maj. Gen. C. Wedemeyer announced today.

The communique said the area east of the airdrome at Sanah bay, on Hainan island, also was raided by the B-24s.

Confesses He Killed Rich Grandmother

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 10 (AP)—Prosecutor Thomas G. Woolsey announced that Edward Jewett Martin, 24-year-old Charlotte, N. C. chemist, signed a confession he killed his wealthy grandmother, Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, near Boonville, Mo., last May. Woolsey stated that Martin said he pushed Mrs. Jewett from her automobile and ran over her with a car. Her body was found in a lake near Durham, N. C. Gov. Donnell has signed extradition papers to bring Martin back to Missouri.

Hearings on Auto Rates Open Nov. 21

Public hearings on the 1945 automobile insurance rates, announced as almost unchanged for most of the state's 1,000,000 motor owners, will open Nov. 21 at 10 a. m. at the public works building.

Nashua st.

Only a few towns have changed rates, according to announcement by State Insurance Commr. Charles F. J. Harrington. One reduction is a $10 cut in the base rate for Boston and Chelsea taxi owners.

Possible relaxation on gasoline and tire rationing and other war-time controls and uncertain conditions make it "very difficult" to fix the rates, Harrington said.

The base rates in all territories will remain the same with the war-time 50 per cent reduction for those holding "A" ration cards, 30 per cent for "B" card holders and 10 per cent discount for all others. Emergency discounts have further been lowered for garages, dealers and motorcycles.

Notable changes in the 1945 schedules include:

Avon, dropped from Territory 7 to 10, resulting in a cut of $2.80 plus discounts for residents of that town.

Stoughton moved up from Territory 10 to 7, with an increase of

$2.80 in the base rate

Chelmsford upped from Territory 13 to 11 with a jump of $3.20 in the base rate.

Tyngsboro was treated most unkindly of any town, being pushed from Territory 14 to 13 with a jump of $3.70 in the base rate.

might feel its explosive weight. Indeed, Churchill said "we cannot be certain that the enemy will not be able to increase the range of the rockets."

Military men said thus far the rocket, which is dubbed the "flying telephone pole" because of its elongated shape, had been a flop.

The whole contraption weighs about 15 tons and has a range of more than 250 miles, but carries only about a ton of explosives. Some extreme estimates of its speed run to 3000 miles an hour. Swedish reports said the rocket's speed and trajectory made accuracy impossible.

Churchill termed highly colored the accounts of the V-2 "flying telegraph pole" bombardment broadcast by the Germans in the past two days, and said they indicated the Germans were in "desperate need" to give the home front encouragement.

The bombardment with rockets was described by the prime minister as less effective than the robot bombs.

Before the Allied armies overran launching sites of the winged bombs, the Germans inflicted heavy damage on London and southern England. The Germans now launch winged bombs from airplanes flying out over the North sea.

The rockets cause somewhat heavier damage in the immediate vicinity of the crater, but rather less extensive blast around the neighborhood where they land than the flying bombs, he disclosed.

Defending the government's censorship until now of stories on the rocket bomb, Churchill declared:

"The government have been confirmed in this course by the fact that until two days ago the enemy made no mention of the weapon in communiques, but last Wednesday they made an official announcement followed by a number of highly colored accounts."

"I do not propose to comment on it except to say that the statements in this announcement are a good reflection of what the German government would wish their people to believe and of their desperate need to afford them some encouragement," said the prime minister.

Pan-Ams Seek Guarantees

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Latin American countries began airing today an insistence that smaller nations receive more guarantees in the world peace organization.

First to be heard from was Uruguay, which urged revival of the League of Nations where every nation had an equal vote.

Failing that, the Uruguayan proposal presented to representatives of the other American republics here suggested that assurances for small nations be written into the Dumbarton Oaks blueprint.

Venezuela has also presented a plan which is understood to reflect a general Latin-American trend of thought for a greater role for smaller republics in the future peace league.

72 SOLDIERS ON WAY HOME

Seventy-two Massachusetts soldiers, including veterans of New Guinea and of European battles, were among 200 enlisted men en route home today on 21-day furloughs after arriving at the overseas reception center at Fort Devens.

British Chief Urges Quick Jap Defeat

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Quick defeat of Japan is just as imperative to Britain as to the United States, Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Cunningham, the First Sea Lord, declared today at a Royal Navy Volunteer

Boston Advertiser, Nov. 10—13

Reserves luncheon.

The admiral said "we must have dominating sea-air power to carry out the task ahead and the greater that superiority the sooner are we likely to crush the inner shell of the Japanese empire."

SLATTERY'S OPENS SATURDAY, ARMISTICE DAY, AT ONE O'CLOCK

Slattery's celebrates 77 years of history-making quality fashions

77 years ago in the year 1867 our country readjusted itself to peace and industry following the Civil War. Today, in the midst of the greatest war in history, the standards set by the E. T. Slattery Co. in 1867 are still maintained. In all types of merchandise, there is a standard of quality below which it is uneconomical to buy. No article is sold in our store that will not give full measure of service. Our quality is never sacrificed on the altar of price.

Daring Yank Saves Wounded

By JOHN WILHELM
Reuters Staff Correspondent

WITH AMERICAN INFANTRY IN HURTGEN FOREST, Germany, Nov. 10 (INS)—Forty-four badly wounded American infantrymen, apparently isolated in a snow-swept ravine and beyond all hope, were rescued by a courageous medical officer.

He walked through an avenue of shellfire and across a German-held bridge to demand—face to face—that the Germans hold their artillery fire while U. S. half-track ambulances evacuated wounded.

Five times rescue columns, attempting to reach the wounded, were brought to a halt by the German fire that killed a number of first aid men and left the leading ambulances twisted and torn.

Down in the Kommercheid ravine, cut off from the American lines by German advances, was a first aid station where these wounded men had existed in an unbelievable condition.

Without water supply, they drank from a creek, the banks of which were littered with dead.

They were too badly hurt to worry about the lack of food, but the field first aid men who stayed by their side had only meagre medical supplies with which to ease their pain.

A heavy blizzard swept down the German front and left slushy, freezing snow on all sides.

Finally Maj. Albert L. Berndt, holding a Red Cross flag above his head, walked out in the blizzard and made a 500-yard trip through no-man's land, past six astounded Nazi soldiers guarding a small bridge with a machine gun, and up a hill to the German command post, where he met a German lieutenant.

He told the lieutenant he was coming into the ravine with six "weasels" (small tractors used for carrying wounded in otherwise inaccessible locations) and that, under the Geneva conventions, he wanted the German artillery to hold fire.

"I'm not asking for a truce, I'm advising that these ambulances should not be fired at under the conventions of war," the major said.

The German lieutenant said he was only leading a front line patrol and had no communications with his superiors, but agreed to send word that any clearly marked Red Cross vehicles should not be fired on.

Maj. Berndt returned and a convoy of "weasels" made their way through the snowstorm, down the muddy hillside and were soon loading the lost wounded on the tractors.

Eleven cases were too bad to be carried on the tractors and were carried out on foot. The more seriously wounded were Americans forced to withdraw from Schmidt had later from Kommercheid.

Huge House Building Spree Is Predicted

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 10 (AP)—Robert P. Gerholz, Flint, Mich., president of the National Association of Home Builders, estimated 400,000 housing units will be built in the first 12 months after Germany collapses. Gerholz estimated in the first 10 years of peace, America will need 10,000,000 new homes. These will be built at the rate of about 1,600,000 a year, furnishing jobs for up to 3,000,000 men on and off the building sites.

Pro-Burial Services For Cpl. Pappas

Paper Troopers Start Campaign

Repeating their successful program of last month, 6,000 Boston schoolboys today were canvassing homes in all sections of the city urging householders to prepare their waste paper for collection in the November salvage drive which starts Monday.

Enlisted as Paper Troopers by the War Production Board, the schoolboys are relaunching their efforts, determined to help the city exceed last month's record paper collection of 1,534,460 pounds.

Acting as ward administrators, 22 school principals have organized the paper troopers in each ward, with each boy assigned about 50 homes.

"It is particularly important that we make the November paper collections the highest ever," said George G. Hyland, chairman of the Boston Salvage Committee. "During the winter weather conditions make collections difficult. I have been informed by WPA officials that some of the biggest paper mills in our part of the country have only a one or two-day supply of materials on hand and face a shutdown if our collection fails."

The Boston salvage drive, Nov. 13 through 17, will start in Wards 1 through 5, with city trucks making collections from homes and stores there Monday.

Tomorrow Dover will hold its paper drive. Medfield will be canvassed on Sunday afternoon.

Roslindale Flier Gets Bronze Star

S-Sgt. William E. Britton, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Britton of Hillview ave., Roslindale, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement with the Ninth AAF, his parents were notified today.

Britton is crew maintenance chief for a bomber which has successfully completed 92 consecutive missions, the citation stated.

He entered the service in September, 1942, and previously received the Good Conduct Medal and a Bronze Star Unit citation.

Tobin, Wife to Have 10-Day Vacation

After attending the Army-Notre Dame game in New York tomorrow, Governor and Mrs. Tobin will leave on a 10-day vacation. The Mayor, tired from his vigorous campaign, said he had not yet decided where he would go for a rest.

GI's Fight for 5th Freedom: Of Registered Love Letters

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 10 (AP)—GI's overseas are battling for a fifth freedom—the right to receive love letters by registered mail.

Ever since Supt. of Mails J. W. Bamrough quoted a postal regulation barring registration of love letters to men overseas, he's been deluged with protests.

Contrary to the Hollywood conception that every Pacific island is peopled by beautiful sarong-clad females and the mosques of India house enchanting houris, most of the protests originate in the South Pacific and CBI theater.

One came from Wyoming; it's fairly there, too.
Sample comments:
"I feel that you owe an apology to us GI's."

"We wish to register our protest."

Bamrough had explained registration of letters is prohibited, although registration of documents is permitted so that overseas service men may handle legal affairs by mail.

Lynn Man Found Hanging From Tree

The mysterious vanishing last July of Frank L. Henderson, 49, of Warren st., Lynn, was solved today following discovery of his body hanging from a tree in an isolated section of the Lynn-Peabody woods.

A guard for the Lynn Gas & Electric Co., Henderson failed to return home after leaving work last July 23. He was a disabled veteran of World War I.

Dissenter Vote

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 10 (AP)—The Spokane athletics round table, which holds its annual Christmas party in July, decided yesterday the time had come for a straw ballot on the presidential election.
Result: Dewey, 41; Roosevelt, 3.

Soldier Vote Gave Jersey to Roosevelt

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 10 (INS)—Analysis of New Jersey's election returns today showed the soldier vote swung the state's 16 electoral votes to President Roosevelt.

With all votes counted except a part of the military ballot in Atlantic county, returns gave the President a lead of 27,070 in combined votes and a lead of 30,620 in the soldier total. Without the servicemen's ballots, Dewey held a lead of 3550.

Chicago Tied By R. R. Strike

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Transportation of an estimated 75,000 Chicago commuters was disrupted this morning when 699 employees of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee, and the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin electric railroads stopped work as efforts failed to settle a wage dispute.

A scheduled strike last Sept. 18 was averted upon intervention of President Roosevelt, who referred the dispute to a special mediation board.

The disruption of service seriously affected transportation of thousands of workers, as well as soldiers and sailors at Ft. Sheridan and the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Navy Urges Return To Use of V-Mail

An appeal for a return to the use of V-mail was issued at First Naval District headquarters today along with the disclosure that there is not yet unlimited facilities for transportation of regular mail to the Navy, Marines and the Coast Guard.

Officials announced that V-mail had greatly fallen off in volume during the past two months and that increased use of regular mail was overtaxing shipping facilities.

City Building Expert Hits Strayer Report

The Strayer survey report which condemned a number of school buildings was filled with "exaggerations and contradictions portraying an entirely wrong picture," James J. Mahan, superintendent of construction for the board of commissioners of school buildings, stated today in a formal report.

Forming the Strayer statement is "untrue and thoroughly unfair," Mahan said. "I know of no school building now in use in our system that is structurally unsafe, nor do I know of any building which, in my opinion, is a fire-trap or which constitutes a fire hazard."

Mahan's report to the school department said the Strayer survey of the physical condition of Boston schools was made by members of the teaching profession from outside the city with little or no knowledge of Boston building law, schoolhouse construction, heating, electrical or plumbing engineering.

"It is unfortunate that the impression has been widely spread that Boston school buildings are fire-traps and unsafe for occupancy," he said.

"We are not objecting to the recommendation that 33 old buildings be closed if the school committee decides they are no longer needed for school purposes. We would, however, like to ask some questions.

"Why is the Henry Abraham School recommended for closing? This building is only 15 years old, one story high, and of fireproof construction throughout.

"Again, if the age of the building is being considered, why are no recommendations made for closing of the Louisa May Alcott School in Roxbury, which is 99 years old?"

Taking Home Bacon Lost Art

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Neither papa nor mama took bacon home from 43 out of 100 stores in October, reported the U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics today.

Half the stores had no pork canned pineapple, mixed fruits or American cheddar cheese. One-third had no butter.

Eighty-four per cent of the stores had no canned salmon. Shelves were not as well stocked with the best steaks and loaves as in September.

Improvements were shown in supplies of canned peaches and in lamb, veal and commercial grade beef steaks.

Decide to Clear
Dorsey in Brawl

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (AP)—Representative of the district attorney's office announced they have decided to ask for dismissal of charges arising from a beating assertedly administered to actor Jon Hall during a party at band-leader Tommy Dorsey's apartment last Aug. 5.

Chief trial deputy Daniel Beecher said he would ask Superior Judge Arthur Crum sometime today to dismiss assault charges against Dorsey, his wife, actress Pat Dane, and Alton Smiley. He said he would ask dismissal on the ground of insufficient evidence and in the interests of justice.

Super-Fuel Made For War Planes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP).—A "super-fuel" now is being produced in limited amounts for combat planes.

Disclosing this today, J. A. Krug, chairman of the War Production Board, said the current output of the "superfuel" now is "very minor" when compared with the production of 100-octane gasoline, but will be gradually stepped up as engines capable of using it efficiently come off assembly lines.

The new fuel will increase cruising range and "full-throttle" performance of planes.

Since a barrel of crude will produce only about half as much of the new fuel as it will of 100-octane, the use of the higher-powered fuel is expected to be limited, for the near future at least, to carrier-based aircraft and super-bombers.

Chelsea Hero Rescues Buddy

WITH THE AMERICAL DIVISION, Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, Nov. 10 (AP).—PFC Eugene Walzcwski, son of Mrs. Jenny Walzcwski, 10 Beacon st., Chelsea, Mass., has distinguished himself by saving a seriously wounded buddy during the hot action at Nip Gap, deep in enemy territory.

Walzcwski was a member of a small combat patrol that contacted the enemy along a jungle river. Walzcwski saw his sergeant fall with a Jap bullet in his stomach. In the face of heavy enemy fire, he dragged the wounded man out of danger and administered first aid.

Massachusetts men newly decorated for heroism and outstanding service within their units are:

Bronze Star Medal to PFC Armand R. Brodeur of Fairview, Sgt. Gene A. Crognalo of Walpole and Sgt. Israel Fritz of Revere; Combat Infantryman Badge to PFC Jacob B. Foss, Jr., of Chelsea; Purple Heart to S-Sgt. Benjamin A. Maslowski of Marlboro, and promotion to corporal for Pvt. John S. Bigda of 31 S. Main st., Bondsville.

Among other Bay State men of the Americal Division selected on the Army's rotation policy to return to the United States are S-Sgt. Edmund R. Rymasz of Clinton, S-Sgt. Lloyd L. Larson of Mattapan and S-Sgt. Francis P. Byrne of Swampscott.

Country Week-End

Fall Fashion

Here's the ideal costume for a fall week-end in the country. Actress Ramsey Ames models a shirt and jacket with grey formal vest matching the skirt and contrasting with her navy blue blazer. A heavy gold watch chain tucked in the waistcoat pockets heralds revival of antique jewelry.

On Leyte—Over terrain churned into muck by air and naval bombardment, U. S. infantrymen advance during the campaign to drive Japanese invaders from the Philippine island of Leyte. Howling hurricanes accompanied by torrential tropical rains have added to the obstacles encountered by our drive.

Honored—PFC William Lambert, Brighton soldier who served overseas for 29 months, receives two Presidential Citations, Army and Navy, from Col. J. A. Sherwood, at Cushing General Hospital, Framingham, for action with the Americal Division in the Solomons.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

WHEN?

THE transoceanic planes which sped balloons from our fighting sons on the eve of the late election and enabled them to have a voice in the democracy they are preserving, actually carried something more than marked slips of paper.

These history-making ships brought a CHALLENGE to all of us.

It was as if every ballot had a message on it, saying:

"Wake up, you old Boston and New England Rip Van Winkles. Put away your oxcarts, buggies and blighting affection for the past. YOU are living in the WONDERFUL AGE OF AVIATION."

No alert person can read such a message without feeling ashamed of the glorified has been which we call the Boston Airport.

Of course, it is not really an airport according to 1914 standards.

It would be more accurate to describe it as an air-less airfield, a cow-less cow-pasture or a trysting place for seagulls.

Henry Ford has not got around to buying it for one of his famed museums as yet, but it is highly probable that he could be persuaded to acquire the antique.

Meanwhile, no pilot of a huge bomber in his right mind would think of landing on such a port.

He would not want to be court-martialed for attempting to park an elephant on a pin-head.

SO THE whole sad thing boils down to this: WHEN ARE WE GOING TO HAVE AN AIRPORT?

We are the NEAREST American city to the European continent.

We are the geographic FRONT DOOR to the United States.

We are the LOGICAL MAJOR TERMINAL for air-borne commerce.

But at this late date, when 50-passenger planes are a reality and 500-passenger liners are almost a certainty, the front door looks more like the hide-covered entrance to a Neanderthal cave.

It even lacks steps in the form of adequate runways.

Certainly the reconstruction of this cow-pasture port is a "must" job for the new Governor, all the next Mayors of Massachusetts and New England, and every person with an income and money in the bank.

It is the BEST and SUREST way to invest in OURSELVES.

Not only will a thoroughly up-to-date airport take the arthritis out of creaky Boston and enable the city to forget its fallen arches, but it will also revitalize and restore all the other cities and towns in the New England area.

Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of prosperity cannot be flown here annually without everybody benefiting in a satisfying manner.

ALL OVER the world bigger and bigger planes are being constructed.

Soon most of them will span the Atlantic and have to land somewhere.

Let us make up our minds now that it will be BOSTON.

If it is Boston, neither Massachusetts nor any other New England State will ever again have to worry about the nightmare of depressions, doles, soup kitchens and breadlines.

WE SHALL HAVE JOBS, IN EVER INCREASING ABUNDANCE.

And, needless to say, we shall also have those new homes and that new security and independence which the politicians always promise so glibly but seldom get around to providing.

But first we must get rid of the out-moded cow pasture and build an AIRPORT.

Widowed you'll be before your time;

Married in February's sleepy weather.

BRIDE'S PROPHECY.

THIS is quoted by continued and insistent request of a young matron who was married in April. . . . Are there specialists in writing menu cards? A man with a talent for this should make important money. A Middle West eatery owner described his dishes in simple terms such as "sirloin steak and baked potatoes." Then he engaged a word stinger to revise his menu card and the aforementioned item was described as: "Charcoal broiled Kansas City steak and Manhattan Idaho baked potato spread with creamery butter." The rest of the items were subjected to a smaller revision. The receipts of the restaurant increased 29 per cent.

ASIDES: "For a woman to be truly fascinating," said Harry Thurston Peck, "she should have a mouth that is a little larger than is quite proportionate to the other features. Women with this type of mouth are usually genial, tolerant, lovable and human and have a great appeal to men." Gen. Eisenhower's favorite definition of marriage is that of a "Naïve soldier" who said, "Marriage is what makes your legs do what your head knows isn't possible."

PROUD HUSBAND: A U.S. Marine sergeant, evidently very proud of the beauty of his wife, sends a snapshot of the little lady and wants to know if it is so not think she has "a face as pretty as Ingrid Bergman's, a figure as good as that of Rita Hayworth and legs as beautiful as Marlene Dietrich's." I would say she has. Maybe she should be in pictures. As to the limbs, the proud husband can find out definitely by checking with the measurements of the celebrated Dietrich underpinnings which are: Eight and a half inches at the ankle, twelve and a half inches at the calf and nineteen and a half inches at the thigh.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—How well do you recall the first Christmas day of your married life? Was it a happy one? A—I remember it as a very happy one. It was spent in a beautiful little house high above the Hudson river near Nyack, N. Y. Though small, this house had four fireplaces and they were all going on that Christmas Day. . . . Q—To decide an argument between Sgt. Brown and Sgt. Jones. Are there more Browns than Jones in United States? A—The 10 most common names in the U. S. in order are Smith, Johnson, Brown, Williams, Miller, Jones, Davis, Anderson, Wilson and Taylor.

SAID THEY: "Never forget what a man says to you when he is angry," advised Henry Ward Beecher. He was in possession of something there. When angry, a man loses control and says what he really thinks. Some smart men purposely anger a person for this reason. Keep it in mind, young fellow.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Herbert Beecher Stowe was the first newspaper columnist in the United States. Arthur Brisbane was the most widely read columnist. And the most popular columnist was O. O. McIntyre.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright 1914, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—We have just seen an alarming demonstration of the Fascistic phase of unionism in the operations of Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committee and in the campaign activities of other men of the union movement.

Some of labor, apparently a majority of the union members, either did not realize what they were voting for, or realized it and went along, anyway, sacrificing freedom for immediate pay, as Italian labor did under Mussolini.

On the surface it may seem inconsistent of me to charge that the Political Action Committee is dominated by Communists and then to say that the immediate effect of this program is Fascist. The explanation is that Fascism and Communism are alike in all important elements and that the Communists, as they demonstrated in Germany when they voted for Hitler, are willing to go through Fascism to arrive at Communism.

After all, Mussolini improvised Fascism out of Communism and, like President Roosevelt, he won the so-called common man by giving him vacations with pay, baby bonuses and other illusory benefits.

To enable the employers to meet these costs, he subsidized them, too, so that the expense was met out of the public treasury which meant that the people paid for their own raises, through taxes.

Moreover, Mussolini thus, by subsidizing industry, got control of industry, as now is happening here.

UNDER MUSSOLINI the unions were not actually abolished, as the anti-Fascist, but pro-Communist, propagandists in this country would have us believe. Instead, he absorbed that anti-Fascist movement as unionism here is now almost wholly absorbed into the Roosevelt party, and made their treasuries available to himself for his political purposes.

It must be apparent to American labor that in this campaign much of the union treasuries were made available to Roosevelt's party. Not only did unions contribute enormously to the campaign, in some cases by minority decisions, in others by executive decision of the officials, but some levied special political assessments.

We have seen in operation many of the methods by which the Roosevelt regime has driven millions of workers into the unions, including the device called "maintenance of membership," whereby men and women of the highest skill in war plants must be fired and their effort subtracted from the war effort if they drop out of membership or violate union discipline.

The union's interests come before those of the fighting and "maintenance of membership," on its face, is an admission by the union that it cannot keep its members on the rolls without government coercion. Nevertheless, Mr. Roosevelt, in one of his most important and persuasive speeches, called this "free collective bargaining."

ANOTHER TRICK by which men and women are driven into the unions often works this way:

George Spelvin, American, works in an unorganized or nonunion occupation. He is, let us say, a clerk. He has earned a raise and his employer wants to reward him and to help him meet the increased cost of living. But he can't give Spelvin a raise.

Then a union comes along, and, incidentally, the most aggressive and successful of the office workers' unions is one which constantly follows the Communist party line.

The union can get Spelvin that raise through the War Labor Board if he and a sufficient number of his fellow-workers will consent to join. But, in that case, the employer must raise not only Spelvin, who has earned his increase, but dozens or hundreds of others, regardless of their merit or ability and including the undeserving.

SO, INSTEAD of "holding the line" against inflation, up go the wages of all hands and up goes the prestige of the union. And, of course, in most cases, since American industry went almost wholly to war, those raises are paid out of the workers' own taxes because the Treasury has subsidized the company and is meeting the payrolls.

Whether the workers who voted for this system understood what they were doing and realized that this was Mussolini's way we can't know. It is bad enough that they did vote for it. The prospect is dark for free America.

Hollywood Today

By Dorothy Manners

Substituting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10—My boy friend, John Garfield (he's to me what Sinatra is to toehr squealers), will be opposite Lana Turner in "The Postman Always Rings Twice," another one of those James M. Cain (rings) stories.

Of course, John will be on loan from Warners for this cheerful little opus about an infatuated couple who decide the lady's husband has lived too long. Yarn has been popping on and off the M-G-M griddle for months, but now gets the official nod, with Victor Fleming set to direct.

Meanwhile Garfield, who just finished "Nobody Lives Forever," has another one to do for Warners. "This Love of Ours," the Al Schmid story, is a moving cross-town. You can bet your buttons that M-G-M is keeping a weather eye on the box office returns of "Double Indemnity," a story similar to "Postman." The latter has been going good in the cities and slower in the hamlets.

THE UNPUBLISHED novel of Booth Tarkington, "Josephine" (Doubleday-Doran), goes to M-G-M for a Leon Gordon production. Gordon, who wrote "White Cargo," fared well in his first fling as the producer of "Mrs. Parkington." Greer Garson may be weary of period pieces, but "Mrs. P." is doing okay with the paying customers. "Josephine," however, isn't for Greer. It's about a shrewish small town girl who gets her clutches on a young soldier, just back from the war, and will undoubtedly re-star two of Metro's newer players.

IF DANIELLE DARRIEUX comes to Hollywood as soon as her friend and original discoverer, Joseph Bercholz, says—you can look for fireworks. Universal's nose is still out of joint over the way Danielle walked out on a three-picture deal with them after making only one. Bercholz says that D. D. is anxious to make an American picture now that she has been cleared of collaboration rumors. He has already huddled with Vicki Baum about writing an original for her. All of which should interest "U" very much.

EVERY TIME Van Johnson moves out of a good role Hank Daniels moves in. At this rate he might follow Van right up to the top as the swooners' delight. Johnson was to have played the boy next door in "Meet Me in St. Louis," but when he was switched to another picture Hank took over. Then Van was set for the lead in Arch Oboler's "Alter Ego," opposite Phyllis Thaxter, but decided to take a vacation in Mexico City instead. You guessed it—Daniels now moves into this part, and while he hasn't had Van's publicity campaign Hank is doing all right with the younger set.

She had her trunks—but had forgotten the keys—and it took her 48 hours to coax a key man around to release her wardrobe. Meanwhile she was confined to the clothes she had worn on the trip across the country. She won't be able to stay East as long as she had expected, anyway. Annie has been paged for the "Other Woman" in "Bedside Manner" and is due back here around the 16th.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—This tale involves one of the great heroes of the war—and if a scenario writer put it in a script, he'd be laughed out of Hollywood. But it's true—so true that I'm disguising a couple of the facts, so that the principals won't be embarrassed, for they're nice people.

It all started when Mrs. Smith, an attractive grandmother, went to Reno last winter to divorce her husband. Feeling that she ought to renew some of the friendships that had slipped by with the passing years, she began writing letters to people she hadn't seen since the happier days of her marriage.

She'd heard that an old suitor of hers had become a lieutenant-commander and was currently working at a desk job in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, so she dropped him a note telling him of her wish to renew old friendships.

WELL, it just happened that her friend, Lt. Com. Jones, had the same name as a nationally known naval hero and held the same rank, and in some not-too-difficult-to-understand mixup in the mails, the hero—let's call him Lt. Com. Jones No. 2—received the divorcee's letter.

Thinking it was from one of his old flames who had read of his wartime exploits, he answered politely, but coolly, because in the first place he couldn't quite place the name and in the second he's a married man with a family.

Mrs. Smith was surprised to learn that her old friend had been wounded in action. The weeks went by, and many missives were exchanged, each a little more romantic than the one before it. The hero went to sea, and her letters followed him, and he replied.

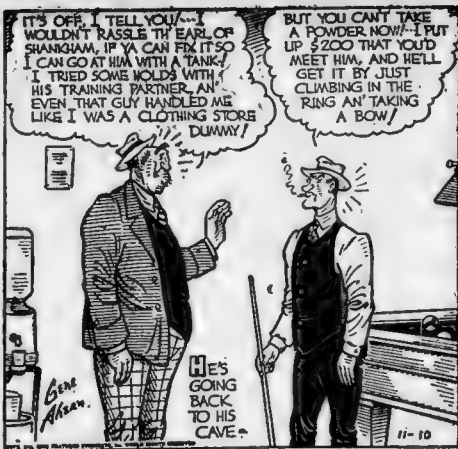

AT LAST, she returned to New York, and not long afterward the warship bearing Lt. Com. Jones No. 2 came into port.

Eager to meet the enchantress of his long correspondence, he hurried to her address—a Park ave. apartment. The door was opened by a woman obviously in the midst of doing housework and looking every day her 50-odd years.

"Is Mrs. Smith in?" the hero asked.

The grandmother looked blank. "I'm Mrs. Smith," she said.

"I'm Lt. Com. Jones," he said. There was a shocked, embarrassed silence. In the even more embarrassing conversation that followed, the blushing hero—barely 30—discovered that the blushing divorcee had mistaken him for her old friend who is almost 60, and the well-bred grandmother realized that the man to whom she had been writing in terms of greatest intimacy was one of the greatest heroes of World War II!

George Dixon's column, Washington Scene, will appear in this paper every day except Friday. Westbrook Pegler's Fair Enough will appear daily except Saturday.

She'll probably burn the letters. But there must be a great temptation to keep them to show to her grandchildren; for that is proof, in the hero's handwriting, that granny was quite a gal!

But you can't print that!

FACES IN PLACES: Ottalene Kruger, Otto's daughter, sitting at the famous Will Rogers table in Leone's. . . Kitty Carlisle showing her beautiful legs in black lace stockings, too! at the bar at El Borracho.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10—Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall and Director Howard Hawks, the combination which made "To Have And Have Not" are now busy on another, "The Big Sleep." In this Bogey plays the role of Raymond Chandler's hard-boiled detective character, Philip Marlowe.

Humphrey Bogart

"What do you want me to do in this scene?" asks Bogey. Director Hawks replies: "You go up the stairs. You go down the stairs. You open the door. You close the door. You turn on the light. You turn off the light. You stand in the room and wait."

A typical Bogey performance, says Bacall, who is standing by watching the proceedings.

"Don't be so smart," says Bogey, "just because you don't have a look in this scene."

RAY MILLAND is on the set playing the role of Don Birnam, the alcoholic gentleman in "The Lost Weekend." Billy Wilder, who co-authored the screen play with Charles Brackett, is directing. Through the course of the filming, Ray must consume quarts of rye. But of course Milland won't drink genuine rye, or else he would become drunk and not able to portray a drunkard.

Therefore, whenever Milland has to take a shot of rye, he will be seen taking a drink of tea. Straight tea. No cream, no sugar, because they change the color, and the only way tea can look like rye is by being tea. Ray has been drinking it for weeks now, and does he hate tea.

This particular setting is Nat's bar. Nat is Howard Da Silva. Nat is standing behind the bar. Ray as Birnam has had a rye. Now he gulps down another. Then Da Silva pours another. Ray says to him: "You don't approve of drinking."

"Not the way you drink." "It shakes and liver doesn't it?" Ray is off on one of those long speeches. "I'm walking a tightrope over Niagara Falls. I'm one of the great ones. I'm Picasso, blue period. I'm Horowitz, playing the Emperor Concerto. I'm John Barrymore before the movies got him. I'm . . ." Ray goes on, concluding by reciting from Shakespeare. "Olan," says Director Wilder, "that's it." The company breaks for refreshments, the mid-afternoon pickup. Milland does a double take. "No, no, not that," he shouts. "It's tea!" "Sure," says Director Wilder. "We need a little." "Not me," says Milland, "this tea drinking is enough to drive an actor to drink!"

CHAIRMAN OF THE Boston School Committee Dan McDevitt, the square-jawed son of the former Deputy Sooper Jim McDevitt of the Boston "In-est," is a candidate—at this writing—for Mayor of Boston in that special "spring" election (which will be held in February or early March) . . . Top Apple Desserts

By MARTHA LEE

POPULAR as apple pie is, it is not the only way to make use of apples and pie crust. Turnovers, tarts and dumplings are often better choices for a small family or for a formal serving than a whole pie.

The turnover eaters will like turnovers because they can be eaten out of hand. To make apple turnovers, roll pastry dough into rounds about the size of a saucer. Arrange layers of thinly sliced peeled apples on half the pastry, sprinkle with a mixture of sugar, cinnamon or spice and a bit of salt and dot with fat. Moisten the edge of the pastry and fold the edges out over the apple-covered half. Press the edges together with a fork and prick the top just to allow steam to escape in baking. Bake in a hot oven, 400 to 450 deg. F., for 15 to 20 minutes until apples are brown and crust brown.

Turnovers are served hot and make a good dessert for a winter dinner. Before the war they were usually served with hard sauce, a simple syrup, thick, cold cream, marmalade or cold cream. They are best instead.

'TIS SAID that research experts have designed pressure containers for cosmetics for postwar use enabling women to spray their lovely beauty aids on the skin... but right now a de luxe refillable powder mitt is a beauty short-cut that sifts exquisitely-textured dusting powder over the body without spillage... and assures even distribution of the fragrant feminine frippery.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Thursday—It seems to be settled beyond any question that the President is going back to Washington to assume during four more years the very heavy responsibility which these years must bring. One can only hope that the people will be able to accept the responsibilities of a President who will, with courage and efficiency, CONSTRUCTIVE criticism will be needed. I have always believed it to be very helpful to have more people who are not only willing to accept criticism but who are also willing to give it. The world is a better place for it.

As individuals, citizens, we will all need to educate ourselves and to think through many personal and local problems, as well as national and international ones.

YESTERDAY MORNING I went down to New York City to attend the wedding in the afternoon of my friends, Mrs. Trude Pratt and T-Sgt. Joseph Lash. Sgt. Lash is just back on a temporary assignment after 18 months in the Pacific.

It was a very happy wedding. But the shadow of the war must have hung over even the happiest hours, and for people like these two, who have so much desire to make their lives of use, one can only hope that when the war is over they can begin quickly to realize their dreams of working together

Adds Charm to Black

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WAYS to give color and life to that black dress are many, and one of the best of them is the addition of a flash of crystal sparkle. This isn't the most spectacular method, but it is one of the most effective yet invented. And some of our most brilliant designers have made holiday dresses of black material with this kind of brilliance to them.

One such dress is sketched. It is a two-piece model made of black crepe and as simple as a sports dress at first. The crystal and rhinestone embroidery is concentrated around the high neckline and on the belt which is fast with black crepe ties, but it is mighty potent in charm.

A small black hat with jet and crystal embroidery at the front completes the costume. The model is from Ben Reig.

Grand After-Bath Aid

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

MAYBE YOU NEVER cared when the dusting powder spilled all over the bathroom rug... after fragrant your Venus-form dimensions following an invigorating tubbing... or how much There was always the younger sister or the maid to do the dirty work. In the latter respect... there's been a change.

But, aside from the fact that the domestic problem is at war and most of us are doing calisthenics with the dust pan and broom... it really isn't fastidious to be so indifferent about your toilette... to say nothing of the sheer, unmitigated waste of such delightful feminine frippery that's involved. Extravagance in personal indulgence is one thing... but it is a darned nuisance to have to lose so much of the scented goodness when it could be so much more effectively employed in softening and smoothing the body.

And, dusting the body after a relaxing, refreshing warm bath or tub is more than a luxury... it is needed refreshment for the skin... the added flavoring like a cherry in a Manhattan or an olive in a martini... or wouldn't you know? If you don't climax your bath with this inexpensive, yet leisure-rich feminine folly of body dusting, you should. You'll feel like a new woman.

HEAVY WHITE BROCADE

"To say that one-third of the precious bath powder is wasted on the floor. So, if you've been grumbling about the spillage and don't know that your beauty benefactors have come to your aid... let me tell you about a de luxe refillable bath powder mitt that is beyond dreamthinking. It is as long as a face-fell and as wide as a heart-stopping, but more useful. It is made of heavy white brocade with a voluptuous, silky velvet mitt palm... grand as an after-bath accessory... stunning as a gift.

Inside this patented item is a special pouch where the powder is placed... and it snaps down securely... locking in the apple-blossom powder for continued and uninterrupted use until the powder is all gone. Its durability belies its fragile and dainty appearance... and it is inexpensive. Besides the heavenly mitt... three packets of exquisitely textured and scented bath powder are enclosed... to last and last with heavenly aroma but with never messy excess or a drop of spillage. In addition, were sold on it as a Yuletide gift.

For the name of this de luxe refilling powder mitt, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBERTY 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Largest size onion sets have been reduced one cent per pound throughout the 1941-42 selling season, the OPA announced today.

MONEY ORDERS ONLY 10¢ EACH

Instead of post office money orders, more and more people now pay bills and send money with SHAWMUT MONEY ORDER CHECK. You'll like them because:

1. You buy them quickly at any Shawmut office
2. You don't need an introduction.
3. You use them just like post office money orders.
4. Cost is only 10 cents a check for any amount up to $100.
5. By keeping a supply of blank checks at home or work, you can fill them out at any time then bring or send them to the bank to be completed quickly, ready for use

COMPARE COSTS WITH POST OFFICE MONEY ORDERS

Amount	Post Office Money Order Cost	SHAWMUT MONEY ORDER CHECK Cost
$ 5.00 to 10.00	11 cents	10 cents
10.01 to 20.00	13 cents	10 cents
20.01 to 30.00	15 cents	10 cents
30.01 to 40.00	18 cents	10 cents
40.01 to 50.00	20 cents	10 cents
50.01 to 60.00	22 cents	10 cents
60.01 to 70.00	24 cents	10 cents

FUNCTION OF
THE TRAIN TELEPHONE

The train telephone is not intended to replace established methods of conveying instructions to trains. Rather, it becomes an auxiliary to established signaling, communications and safety devices, making them more effective by giving all who are involved in train operation more thorough and quicker information as to what is happening on the line.

Main Line Divisions of P.R.R. have long been equipped with every proved device for safety, signaling and communication. Included are automatic block signals, signals in the locomotive cabs, interlocking plants, power-operated and electrically-locked switches, dragging equipment detectors, slide protection fences, universal track circuits, telephones at signals, switches and strategic locations, teletypewriter networks, facsimile apparatus for transmission of train orders, and centralized traffic control.

P. R. R. Orders Million Dollar Installation for two Main Line Divisions . . . Harrisburg to Pittsburgh

Instantaneous and continuous telephone communication between moving trains and wayside towers, between engine and caboose, between train and train is now a reality . . . thoroughly tested and proved. Soon it will be a fact on two of the busiest divisions of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

This great advance in railroading has been in experimental operation on a branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad for two years . . . not only to find possible improvements, but to learn the best ways of applying it more widely.

The induction telephone is one of the many far-reaching improvements brought about by the Pennsylvania Railroad's never-ending search for new things and better ways. It is tangible evidence of the spirit of tomorrow that today is at work in railroading . . . perfecting and applying ideas and inventions that ordinarily would be considered as belonging to the distant future.

steadily with any of the girls in his Utica neighborhood.

His family heard last from him a little over two weeks ago, when he mailed a letter from New York city. He said he had a job, but gave no additional details of his work. He also told his mother that he was going to Lynn to visit relatives.

Szymanowicz' father is an employee of the city of Utica, and he has a brother, John, 20, who now is fighting with the Army in France. Another brother, Joseph, 36, works at a Utica hotel. He has one married sister, Mrs. Sophie Lambert, 30, also of Utica.

Most startling information of all was the information a neighbor volunteered that he had spoken to his mother, during a visit of having several girl friends in Lynn.

"He was working for the circus last summer and went to Boston with them," she said.

"I always liked him. He seemed to be a good enough fellow, but he couldn't seem to hold a job. His mother said that only three weeks ago he sent her $10.

"I know that he had two suits, a brown one and a blue one, the last time he was home. He took both of them with him when he left for Lynn."

In the suspect's pockets was a draft card which showed that only a week ago he had come up before a Lynn draft board for reclassification and had been retained in 4-F. He first registered from the home of a cousin, Mrs. Anna Kasle of 32 Orchard st., West Lynn, in 1910.

Sometimes later he was called up for examination in Boston and first placed in 4-F. He was turned down again only last Saturday by the Lynn board, just a day before Marie's slaying.

Mrs. Kasle told an American reporter today that her cousin lived with her from September, 1911, to March, 1912, but that she had not seen him for some time. She added that he then was employed at a Lynn luncheon but that he usually did not hold a job very long.

Three days after the dramatic portrait by Szymanowicz, Putnam police questioned him concerning the unsolved slaying three years ago of Ethel S. Cochran, 19-year-old Lynn bookkeeper, whose ravished body was found in the woods at the Lynn-Salem line, only a mile from where Marie was killed.

AFRAID OF THE DARK
"I don't know anything about the Cochran girl. That's all I want to say now," the youth answered.

Police found by checking his belongings that he also was in Lynn in October, 1913.

But in his latest trip to Lynn over the weekend, he did not visit at the Kasle home, according to Mrs. Kasle's story today.

Szymanowicz was wearing a rumpled blue suit when he applied for lodging. His other suit, a brown one he claims he wore over last weekend in Lynn, had been sent to the cleaners.

"I don't know what tailor I took it to," he explained vaguely. "I'll try to remember tomorrow."

He said he had been in both Utica and New York city in the last four days and that he hitchhiked all the way. He said he was returning to Boston and hoped to join the Merchant Marine.

Also in his pockets was a booklet on sex relations, entitled "Going Steady." He said he picked it up in New York along with some campaign leaflets he also was carrying.

Apparently an avid movie fan he also carried a program of the Metro Theater. The designation of the city was not given on the program.

The excuse he used to obtain lodging was what first attracted the attention of police. He told Sgt. Desrosiers he did not like to be out on the street after dark. "Just let me sleep until it gets light, will you?" he asked. "It gets light about 5:30 in the morning. You can call me then."

AWAKENED TO POSE

It was then that he gave his home address as in Lynn and police, who had just been discussing the LaCombe murder, straightened to attention.

Szymanowicz was put in a cell and within minutes was fast asleep awaiting the arrival of Massachusetts State police and Salem officials.

About an hour later, he was awakened by Richard McCauley, American correspondent, with a request for pictures. He willingly posed and then talked for a half hear about his life before dropping off to sleep once more. Despite his wanderings, the man was clean shaven and wore a clean shirt. Only tell-tale item that proclaimed him a hitch-hiker was his rumpled suit.

His meeting Sunday with Marie was a chance one, according to his story. He said he was coming out of the movies and noticed she was just leaving, also. He added he never had seen her before but that she was so pretty he decided to speak to her.

"I found out her name was Marie," he continued. "I never knew what her other name was. She said she would meet me at 8:30 that night. I told her we could go to the movies again, but I had made up my mind that taking a walk would be better."

During all his talk, Szymonowicz frequently became forgetful and drowsy. He explained that he had been on the go almost continually for five days and that he had gotten very little sleep.

He would not say just where he met Marie, and police asked him if it was not at the Town sq. bus terminal, where the slain girl was last seen, waiting to keep her rendezvous with death.

2000 PASS CASKET

He also would not talk much about the place he says he took his new friend for a walk.

Reminded that Marie's body was found behind the gates of Bertram Stadium, Salem High School athletic field, he said it was dark and he didn't pay attention to where they were.

While Massachusetts authorities were speeding to Connecticut to resume the questioning, hundreds of friends of the slain youngster gathered at St. Joseph's Church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was scheduled.

Earlier, more than 2000 persons had walked past her white, and sealed, casket at the Levesque funeral home in Marion st., just across the street from St. Joseph's Parochial School, which she attended prior to entering Salem High School.

Classmates, most of them Salem High School athletes, were chosen as pallbearers.

Present during the grilling at Putnam police headquarters were Patrolmen Homer Brevault and Benoni Durand, who spelled Sgt.

Desrosiers in a grilling that lasted from dark until late at night.

Before going to sleep, the suspect read over a brief confession typed out by Desrosiers and signed it according to police.

He told the officers he never had been arrested and according to records available he told the truth. He added that he often had been in police stations during his circus days and while on hitch-hiking trips but always only as a night lodger.

The body of the little victim was discovered by three boys at 11 a. m. Wednesday while they were taking a short cut behind the stadium.

Thoroughly frightened, they ran to the nearest house and within minutes Police Marshal Harkins had launched a probe rivalled only by the hunt for the slayer of Frances Cochran.

Called in were Dist.-Atty. Hugh A. Clegg, Lts. Raymond Foley and Richard Griffin of the State Police, Dr. Alan T. Moritz, State Police pathologist, and Medical Examiner Ralph Foss of Peabody.

Drs. Moritz and Foss branded the killing the work of a sex fiend immediately, stating Marie had been pounded into unconsciousness and then ravished.

Death came soon afterwards from three fractures, caused by violent blows probably administered with a rock. One blood-stained boulder, found at the scene, now is held by investigators.

Short on ration points? Then just try this wine-way of making fish so tasty it appeals to everyone!

Fish Baked in White Wine

Brush 4 small fish (about 1/2 lb. each) inside and out with melted margarine. Sprinkle with salt, celery salt, and pepper. Slash sides lightly to prevent curling. Lay in shallow baking pan, add 1 cup California Sauterne or Rhine Wine and a bay leaf. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 minutes, or until done, basting occasionally. Remove fish, slightly thicken wine remaining in pan for sauce.

To point up the flavor of fish serve glasses of white wine with it at the table. You'll find wine cuts the oiliness, makes your fish taste extra delicious. Let your dealer tell you all about California white table wines.

DEBBS ARE MARRYING so young nowadays that for the first time in the Boston Morning Musicales' 17 seasons the debutante usher group includes several brides.

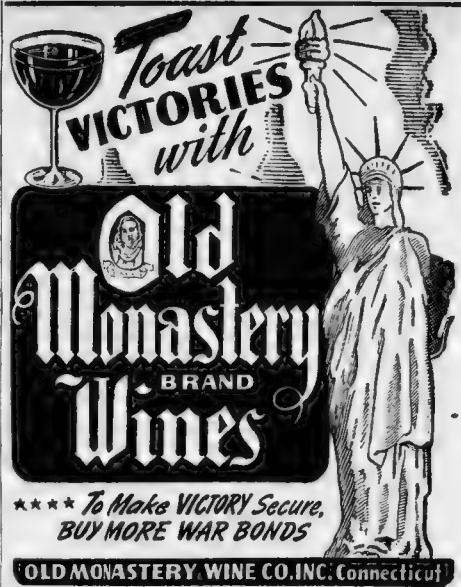

One of them is Mrs. Mark Eaton, the former Martha de Chapuis of Buenos Aires who graduated from Beaver Country Day last June and married Lt. M. MacDill, a peppy little brunette in green and crimson Lanz suit with crimson gloves, reporting that her chum, Marie Sisk, was unable to be at the tea but would report bright and early to usher at the first concert next Wednesday. Betty Chick in a crimson wool dress; Jane Alles (Grass Road), another summie and Stasia Purves exclaiming over the luscious 17-layer cake covered with yummy chocolate frosting; blonde Bettie Roberts in lavender wool jersey sitting beside glamorous Barbara Mitchell who was making every minute count by studying her shorthand before the meeting began. Baba's sisters, Helen and Ann, who preceded her into the social limelight, were musicales ushers in their coming-out years.

Also attending were Diana Sullivan, Marie Prince, Mrs. David Mittell, May Sedgwick teasing Margot Boyce about the silver Air Corps wings on her teal blue tuxedo suit; Edith Cunningham and Jane Faulkner posing for the news photographers; Anne Perkins, Virginia Brown, Sabra Harwood, Mary Ann Bottomly and Rosamond Walker.

MR. AND MRS. FLOYD DE GROOT, Mrs. Charles F. Toppin and Dr. and Mrs. William F. Cotting are among the first nighters planning to attend the opening of the new Theater Guild musical, "Sing Out, Sweet Land," at the Colonial Monday evening, second attraction in the subscription series.

Other first nighters will be Mr. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. John Moseley Abbot, Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Hodgkinson, Mrs. Douglas D. Purie, Mrs. Royden Loring, Mrs. Allen P. Winsor, Miss Carol Whiting, Mr. Sears Condit and his daughter, Louise, Dr. and Mrs. Leland S. McKittick and Mrs. David J. Evans.

Top Vaudeville, Western Film Gem at RKO-Boston

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

You can't go wrong on the show which opened yesterday at the RKO-Boston, if you like good vaudeville and aren't too sophisticated to enjoy a rip-snorting Western film thriller.

"Fall in the Saddle" is destined to make city audiences yell for more horse op'ys. It has action, plenty of shooting and some fist fights with more zing to them than most ring spectacles. John Wayne and Ella Raines head the cast (a very good one, by the way) and the audience expresses its approval all the way.

On stage, Larry Flint and his orchestra opened a top-register bill with "Buster's Last Stand," and provided provocative accompaniment for a trio of excellent dancers, Lou and Arline Calites and Joe, their dad, who brought a nostalgic memory with their soft-shoe numbers. . . . Arline's pretty stems would be a pleasure to watch even if they weren't so gracefully agile.

Stars of the show, hand down, are Wally Brown and Alan Carney, who are rapidly moving into the front ranks of comedians. Wally is a Boston boy who made good; his rapid-fire, unfinished-thought delivery is new and very funny. His is a combination of the old vaudeville technique with really new gags.

Alan Carney, his partner, stooges for Wally in part of the show and later takes over his own spot with some excellent impersonations. His soap-box orator's number is swell.

Ollie Franks, an energetic comedienne, singer and dancer, will inevitably be compared to Betty Hutton, who of course is tough competition for any jitterbug-type entertainer. This girl's kidding of the South American bombshells is good.

To the delight of the hepcats, the bill winds up with Lou Jordan and his Tympany Five. They do "Is You Is or Is You Ain't My Baby," which they introduced in "Follow the Boys" on the screen.

ONE OF AMERICA'S RAILROADS

Beery, Maisie For Loew's Fans

Beery and Maisie are here again . . . not in the same script, perish the thought, but on the same screen . . . and all is well with Loew's State and Orpheum patrons.

Back in the Old West after a sabbatical leave, Wallace Beery is now to be seen cavorting with his copyrighted elephantine bashfulness in "Barbary Coast Gent." This is an unpretentious, rambling saga, with a city slicker with a heart of gold angle and plenty of wide open space in the plot, but Beery fans will eat it up like a scarce order of rationed beefsteak.

It's set in the 1880's and Beery's Honest Plush Brannon strikes gold, and from start to finale it's rough, rowdy, rip-roaring and rumbling with the rasp of Wally's nutmeg-grater basso.

Binnie Barnes is the soft touch, and what a soft touch where Honest Plush is concerned! John Carradine is the villain with a capital V. Henry O'Neill's Colonel Watrous, Chill Willis' sheriff and other characterizations are equally broad and so is the humor.

The insouciant Maisie, played by the infectious Ann Sothern, is currently getting into plenty of trouble with the screen's newest male threat, John Hodiak, in Reno.

What could be fairer than that, you'll say, girls, when you see this sensational lad.

Miss Sothern and Hodiak, with the help of Tom Drake and Roland Dupree, do their best, but this film comedy is thinner than a cocktail shaving of smoked turkey.—P. D.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q.—Will the bodies of deceased American soldiers be returned from foreign lands to the United States for burial? L. S. Waltham

A.—It is probable that the Government will pursue the same policy in World War II that it did in World War I, under which the remains of servicemen who died in foreign lands were buried there for the duration of the war, after which they were brought to the United States for permanent burial.

Q.—My husband recently entered a veterans' hospital for an operation which will probably confine him there for several months. He is receiving $87 monthly compensation for a service-connected disability. Does this continue while in the hospital? J. D. Salem

A.—Yes, the law so reads if he has a wife, child or a dependent parent. If the veteran has no such dependent, however, such compensation, pension or retirement pay while he is receiving hospital treatment from the United States or any political subdivision thereof shall not exceed $40 per month.

Q.—Has an honorably discharged veteran of World War II the privilege of wearing his uniform? If so, when?

A. V., Boston

A.—You may wear your uniform on the occasion of military functions. For example, Memorial Day, Armistice Day or Veterans' parades, also civic events and gatherings in which a uniform would be considered proper dress.

Q.—I get $37 from my son who is in the Army. His wife got a check a week after he went in in August, but I didn't get one until September. Don't they owe me a check for August, too?

K. M., Jamaica Plain

A.—No. Your son's wife received initial payment of Family Allowance, which is paid to wife and children, and parents dependent for chief support—for in July and I was supposed to get an increase in my Family Allowance, but it is still for $80. What does the increase cover?

Q.—My husband went overseas

A. J., Newton

A.—Family Allowance is not increased by reason of the soldier's overseas duty. His base pay is increased 20 per cent and is paid to him. If he wishes to send this home he authorizes a Class E allotment, and to this the Government does not add an allowance.

Q.—My husband was killed in action two years ago. I received a pension and Government insurance. If I remarry will I lose these? L. M., New Haven

A.—Your pension would be discontinued, but your insurance payments will continue.

Even After This Happens, American Women Can't Relax

Even after Killer Hitler himself throws in the sponge, American women must not relax on saving used fats in their kitchens. Because all our victories in Europe cannot help our serious fat shortage problem in the least.

It's the Japs who still have those territories in the Pacific that used to supply us with one billion pounds of fats and oils a year! Our fat salvage job isn't done until we blast the Nips out.

In the meantime, every drop of used fats is urgently needed to help make the munitions, medicines, synthetic rubber and soaps needed for final victory.

So keep saving until V-J Day! Remember the government gives you 2 free red points for every pound.

War Gets Credit For Tax Payment

Wartime prosperity was credited by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau today for the speedy collection of 1944 taxes.

It was announced that up to Nov. 1, 86 per cent of a total Boston levy of $58,043,483 had been collected, surpassing even the 1940 record of 74.4 per cent.

In 1931, of course, only 55 per cent of the taxes had been collected by Nov. 1.

Schott Is Favored to Win Over Thompson

By JACK CONWAY

ONE WILL GET a very good idea just how Howard Thompson of Saugus rates as a heavyweight prospect when he clashes with Freddy Schott, 18-year old boxer from Patterson, N. J., in a ten-round bout at a Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building tonight. Schott is highly regarded as a heavyweight threat, and he has scored with 19 knockout victories. He is a favorite tonight.

Thompson has won 35 straight bouts, but none of his opponents possessed as much ring class as Schott. Tonight the Saugus defense worker will be meeting his most severe test.

Thompson has given more time to his training than he did in his previous bout here when he was sluggish as result of lack of boxing. The Saugus puncher has been working out for the past 10 days at Kelley & Hayes Gym and is reported as being in first class condition.

The semi-final of eight rounds will bring together Bobby Evans of Newark, N. J., and "Tiger" Lou Jones of Alabama. Jones recently received a split decision over Evans which did not meet with the approval of the fans who witnessed the tussle.

Louis Here Next Week

SERGEANT Joe Louis will be at the Boston Garden next Thursday night to referee a wrestling bout between Sandor Szabo and Yvon Robert. The Army has given the "Brown Bomber" permission to referee and also to box exhibitions during a furlough that expires on Nov. 18.

Holiday Racing

ROCKINGHAM Park should have another big day tomorrow, Armistice Day. The Armistice Day Handicap, which will feature horses like Castleman, Dinner Party, Coronel, Goobar Lad, White Hope, Santa Elisa, Ballast, Atreus, Republican, Skipper 2 and Bus V. Z. are expected to be the starters.

There will be the usual eight-race program, with post time at 2 p. m. A year ago there was a doubleheader at Rockingham on Armistice Day. This year the doubleheader for the National War Fund was moved forward to Columbus Day and shattered all New England records for a single day's betting.

Racing Secretary John Turner says there are still 800 thoroughbreds at Rockingham, and that he will be able to keep offering attractive cards for the remainder

Gobs Back PT Team at Harvard

By HUCK FINNEGAN

MELVILLE, R. I., Nov. 10.—This PT bo at base is football mad. Twenty-three hundred of the 3500 men stationed here will travel to Boston tomorrow to cheer their team in its game with Harvard in the Stadium (2:30).

Pockets of the 2300 are bulging with folding money, result of the 2-1 odds on BC last week, and the sailors hope to make another killing tomorrow. They'll give odds that their team beats Harvard by two touchdowns.

They've got a real football team here, and they know it. They not only anticipate victories over Harvard, Holy Cross, and U. S. Sub Base (conqueror of IIC) but hope to arrange a post-season game in Florida during the Yuletide when the team is reinforced by BC's Mike Hlovak and Bernie Crimmins, recent Notre Dame captain.

"I was rather downcast early in the week," said player-coach Red McClain, "but the past two practices have re-assured me. This will be a harder game for us than BC, but I believe we'll be ready. I saw Harvard play the Eagles. They were good then and will be better with the Dartmouth transfers (Fritts, Morter, Lamoreaux) in the fold."

Wingback Cooper on the water early in the week, and McClain was thinking of taking over the spot himself. Cooper has been on hand the past two days, however. "He'll start," said McClain, "but I plan to play more than I did last week."

TORRY McDONALD TO PLAY

McClain, 193 pounds of T.N.T., waited until the last period to carry the ball against the Eagles. Then he ripped the line for 10-yard gains and finally intercepted an Owens pass, ran 40 yards for a TD only to have the play nullified by a clipping penalty. He's a hard-driving fullback who was with the pro Giants in '41 after a distinguished football career at Southern Methodist.

"I'll start the same eleven men that opened against BC," said McClain, "but I have named Svendsen (center) and Zoeller (tailback) co-captains for this game." Guards Shaw and Smith co-captained the team last week. Zoeller was the outstanding running back

Army Shock Troop Plan Menaces Irish Gridmen

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—The shock-troop system, an idea that helped Knute Rockne guide Notre Dame to the gridiron heights, comes back to haunt the Irish in tomorrow's annual clash with Army in New York city's Yankee Stadium. Lt. Col. Earl Blaik, head coach of the all-winning Cadets, said today he would continue his two-team plan, and that the upper classmen's varsity with Doug Kenna at quarterback would start against the Irish.

In the second quarter an entire new team, mostly plebes, will take the field.

This aggregation has Capt. Tom Lombardo at quarter, Felix Blanchard at fullback, Glenn Davis as one of the halfbacks and up front has Barney Poole at one end, Dewitt Coulter at a tackle and Hirschel Fusion at center.

The only changes in those plans will come if Army kicks off. Then Blanchard will toe the ball and trot to the sidelines until his plebe mates are sent into the fray. Bobby Dodds, fullback on the upper classmen team, likely won't start because of a leg injury and his place will be taken by Dean Sensenbaur, the ex-Ohio Stater and erstwhile right half on the plebe outfit.

Dick Walterhouse, place-kicking specialist from Michigan, inherits Sensenbaur's old duties. While Blanchard, Davis and some of the other Army backs have been attracting the headlines, it is Tom Lombardo who gets the pats on the back from the Army coaches.

"There is little if any difference between Lombardo and Kenna in ability or generalship," said Blaik, "but we thought that the plebes would steady down and be more relaxed knowing that the player calling their signals was the team captain."

"Technically, I suppose that Lombardo, our captain, should be in the starting line-up, but he has given up that honor to help the team in a much greater way."

The Cadets left at noon today and worked in Yankee Stadium later in the afternoon. The civilian members of Notre Dame's squad were due in Gotham today and will spend the night at Bear Mountain, N. Y. The Irish V-12 players, whose absence from their campus is restricted to 48 hours, won't reach New York until Saturday morning.

Rokuck and four other members of the Third Air Force had been missing since Oct. 15 when their plane disappeared on a flight from Athens, Ga., to Tampa, Fla.

Permane Wins, But Ted Leads

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Bobby Permane broke a losing streak that stretched through 30 straight mounts yesterday but failed to gain on Teddy Atkinson in the race for national jockey honors when the Canadian-born leader clicked off three more wins, including Dance Team, the favorite in the featured Lylet Puse at Belmont.

Henry Lustig's Dance Team scored by four lengths over A. L. Astor's Plucky Boy and Stephen Messana's Forever in that order. The winner paid $3.50 and ran the six furlongs in 1:12.3-5 to delight a majority of the 15,364 fans.

Atkinson also scored on record crop and Katylea, boosting his win total for the year to 239, a lead of 40 on runner-up Permane, who came out of his slump to bring in Hat Maker and Old Grad for a successive double in the third and fourth events.

Edstrom Has Hopes For Olympics in '48

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Sweden, acting chairman of the International Olympic committee expressed the belief today that the Olympic games could be held in 1948.

He said possibly Finland would be cut of the war by that time and could organize the games but that if Finland was prevented by circumstances, Switzerland, Spain, Sweden or Portugal might act as host.

Somerville's Rooney Big Malden Problem

By MIKE GILLOOLY

You can step into the Malden High School clubhouse any afternoon and you'd swear you'd opened the pages of Fran Rooney's scrapbook. Plastered all over the walls is a story nominating the flashy Somerville right halfback as the outstanding schoolboy football player of the season.

What is Rooney doing in Malden's Pearl St. Stadium dressing room? He's being mentally tackled for five yard losses every time he handles the ball. His kicks are being consistently blocked—he hasn't got one off for more than 10 yards in that locker room. His passes are being intercepted every afternoon in the minds of the undefeated Golden Tornado squad.

HAVE ROONEY COMPLEX

Malden has worked over Fran Rooney mentally for over a week. Tomorrow, the Golden Tornado will meet the fleet Somerville tanager who has been burning the grass off the gridiron greens. It will be the game of the week with a sell-out crowd swarming the Malden oval for the contest which, in itself, decide the state championship—providing Malden can stop the elusive 155-pound scat-back.

Almost three weeks ago, the program for the Newton-Malden game featured Fran Rooney romping toward a touchdown—an item which had nothing to do with the tilt on hand. Coach Eddie Melanson insists that he had no part of the story but he has taken psychological advantage of it by pinning it up in the Malden quarters. Malden's state champion contenders, by now, just can't wait to get their hands on Rooney—and that's quite a trick on the gridiron. The squad is in better condition than it has been for the past three Saturdays with Nick Belises' leg injury completely vanished; Art Gasparella ready to play the entire game; Al Macy and Bill Sasso rid of their colds.

EXETER-ANDOVER CLASH

Coach Melanson has a plan to stop Rooney, leaving the field wide open for the off-tackle slants of Belises, offensive ace of the Golden Tornado.

Coach Lynch has a plan to send Rooney flying into the open, leaving the entire issue up to the Somerville line to stop the T and wing thrusts of the Class A leaders. Somerville's line will be strengthened by the reinstatement of Roy Sodano, 185-pound reserve tackle who will be seeing plenty of action in place of Bill McCormick and George Maloney. Rooney hasn't been slowed down this season. It'll be up to Malden to turn the trick or possibly blow its best record in years.

The Somerville-Malden clash will be the championship competition, but there'll be plenty of action on other fronts over the weekend.

There'll be traditional meetings between Exeter and Andover at the latter's field and St. Mark's and Groton. The Phillips Academies will be meeting for the 65th time while the private elevens will be contesting their 56th decision.

Among the smaller schools, Reading and Dedham will be facing stiff tests as they attempt to keep alive their undefeated records while Saugus should have a romp in scoring again against Swampscott. Reading, fresh off its Winchester triumph, will run into a stubborn Wakefield outfit while Dedham will be up against its annual stumbling block, Weymouth.

Purple Regains Leo Troy, Star Passer

WORCESTER (AP)—Leo Troy, freshman star pass receiver who was feared lost for the season with a shoulder injury, rejoined the Holy Cross football team yesterday as the Crusaders held a secret drill preparing for Saturday's game with Colgate.

Yale Prepares for Brown's Fast Stuff

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Yale, mindful that Brown has compiled a scoring reputation this year even though not too successful in the won-lost lineup, went to work defensively in preparation for the Bruins' visit here Saturday. The coaches brought out their chants of Brown plays and assigned George Sullivan of New Britain, a novice back, to the role of Charley Tiedemann, Brown's breakaway runner.

The youngsters later discovered their visitor was Howie Odell, football coach at Yale.

Corcoran Signs Three-Year Golf Contract

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' Ass'n, has been signed to a new three-year contract, Ed Dudley, president of the association disclosed today.

Corcoran, who has held the difficult job for eight years, will plan the winter circuit this year. Last winter he toured the war zones with Lefty Gomez and Jack Sharkey.

$60,000 in Awards At Chi Horse Show

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—A record $60,000 in awards will be paid to winners at the Chicago Horse Show Dec. 9 to 17. The heavy prizes offered are expected to bring the nation's leading show ring performers to the show.

Stake and grand championships will account for $37,000 and the remaining $23,000 will be distributed among the various class winners.

NOTRE DAME-ARMY—Notre Dame never has been defeated by both Navy and Army the same year. Army hasn't scored against the Irish since 1938. The Cadets will break both traditions this year.

CORNELL-NAVY—Just a breeze for those hard-hitting Mid-dies.

THIRD AIR FORCE-GREAT LAKES—This figures to be a close one with the home team, Great Lakes, getting the call.

ILLINOIS-MICHIGAN—The Wolverines look even stronger with Bob Weiss and Bob Nussbaumer gone, but the Illini has Buddy Young. Nevertheless, Michigan.

TULANE-GEORGIA TECH—Tech to rebound from the Duke defeat.

PITTSBURGH-OHIO STATE—The Buckeyes in a tune-up for next week's clash with Illinois.

WAKE FOREST-DUKE—The Deacons have one of their strongest outfits in years, but Duke is one of the nation's top losing teams. Duke.

CALIFORNIA-UCLA—Both teams have lost key men through military transfers. California won their first encounter, 6-0. But on the premise that the Uclans' losses have not been as great as the Trojans we pick UCLA.

COLUMBIA-PENNSYLVANIA—This one is easy. Penn.

INDIANA-MINNESOTA—The Gophers haven't got what it takes to stop Indiana's Bob Hoernschemeyer.

COLGATE-HOLY CROSS—A ding-dong battle, with Holy Cross winning.

CHERRY POINT MARINES-BAINBRIDGE—The Navy boys from Bainbridge will make this their 14th straight.

PURDUE-NORTHWESTERN—Poor Wildcats. They made a good showing in tying Minnesota last week but will resume their losing ways.

a blending triumph!

Wouldn't you like to serve a whiskey that has the full, ripe richness of the world's finest, most limited brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!

THIS invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey... who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need any thing more to confirm them in their judgment.

We set out years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense. We experimented. We drew from the world's choicest reserves. We selected the finest grains, and backed them up with the world's most delicate skills.

The result is—Fleischmann's PREFERRED, one of the world's most remarkable whiskeys. Velvety Creamy! Full! Delicious! We can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts for some time to come, because our facilities have been devoted to the war effort... but if your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll always be glad you did!

Watson's Return to New York Intriguing

By BILL GRIMES

When Capt. Bill Cowley lines up for the opening draw of the Bruins-Ranger game Sunday in Madison Sq. Garden, he will face off with Phil Watson, who recently received his Canadian clearance papers and after a year's absence, is back in a New York uniform.

During a conference this week, Lester Patrick told the New York hockey writers that there was something odd about the manner in which Watson had returned to Rangers. His implication was that there was some kind of a plot being hatched to get Watson away from the Rangers. Les Canadiens officials stated that Patrick should have kept posted on Watson's military status and if he had he would have known what was what.

A year ago, while on "loan" to Les Canadiens, Watson was in the sports headlines frequently. He worked in a war plant and therefore couldn't leave Canada. He played in Montreal but didn't make a trip until Nov. 20, when he went to Toronto. Three weeks later he was back in the Queen City and the following night he played his first game in the "States" at Detroit.

Then, it was alleged that an agreement between Rangers and Canadiens was made whereby Watson could play in all N. H. L. cities with the exception of New York.

At that point, the governors of the N. H. L. stepped in and called for a show down. They wanted to know who was running the league. And, on Jan. 9, Watson made his first appearance in Madison Sq. Garden.

Early last June Watson was rejected by the Canadian Army medics, but he didn't divulge that fact. At least he didn't inform Patrick.

Before the war Watson ranked with the best centers in the N. H. L. And he hasn't come back any. So naturally Les Canadiens could use Watson, who along with being a star, is a Frenchman. The Canucks are alleged to have made offers for Watson but to no avail, for Patrick had Phil listed as ineligible to play in the N. H. L.

Realizing that the Canadiens weren't getting anywhere with the Rangers and believing that he was going to be left holding the well known bag, Watson went to Toronto the day before the Blue Shirts opened the current season against Maple Leafs. He called Patrick at the Royal York Hotel and was granted an interview.

"What about a contract?" asked Watson.

"You are out" answered Patrick. "Your military status will not allow you to play in the N. H. L. this season."

Reaching into his coat pocket, Watson pulled out a paper and handed it to Patrick. It was his rejection papers.

Then, Patrick signed Watson to a Rangers contract.

Dots and Dashes

Here's a message from Trainer Win Green to any and all goalies who plan to work up with the Bruins. "Bring your own equipment" . . . Flight Officer Art Ross worked out with the Bruins yesterday . . . He's making a grand comeback, after his experience in France . . . Paul Gladiu, the Bruins' left winger, had to return to Montreal to get some official document, he had neglected to secure . . . He's due back today . . . And, by the way, don't sell Gladiu short . . . He's a pretty good hockey player . . . Very quick on the steel blades and tricky with the puck . . . Coach Hago Harrington and Ty Anderson returned home from Philly yesterday but the rest of the Pies stayed over . . . Hago is very high on the 1944-45 Olympics . . . From what I've seen of them, the Bruins are very much faster than a year ago . . . Some of those kids can really fly . . . They had a good work out yesterday and will hold two more practice sessions before going to New York.

PHIL WATSON ACTIVE AGAIN—How great Ranger center was reinstated makes an interesting story.

Eagles to Face Sweet Passer

Although it does not even come close to the Navy PT team in power, Brooklyn College will mark the next Boston College opponent and the Eagles will have a tough battle on their hands at Fenway Park on next Sunday.

The Kingsmen have a passer, Harold Friedman, who is worthy of note. Friedman's losses accounted for four touchdowns against CCNY who bowed to Brooklyn for the second time, 37-0, on election day. Brooklyn defeated them by the same score earlier in the season. It dropped two games to Connecticut in the only other tilts that it has played this season.

Lou Oshins' boys operate from the T formation and since BC adheres to the same style of play the game should give the fans a few thrills, in viewing the battle of the T's.

In addition to Friedman, Brooklyn has some good pickin talent in Stan Closeman, Bob Leder, Abe Bressler and Sherman Smith.

Although the last game, against Melville, was by far the most bruising affair in which the Eagles have played to date it was the first since the Harvard opener in which the Heightsmen have not lost a key player through injuries.

The game will be the final tune-up for the Eagles prior to the Holy Cross game on Nov. 26
